Winter “Sunny Day” Sanctuary Photos Just for Fun!

So what if it's only 33 degrees out. It's time for a Spring bath! (Well, at least according to Francis the goose.)

Ooooooooooh it feels great to roll in the dirt!

I got hay in my mouth dude. Can't you take our picture later?

I must practice taking naps in the warm sunshine so I am prepared for summer. I plan ahead! (Life according to Garfunkle the pig.)

Winter "Sunny Day" Sanctuary Photos Just for Fun!

My names "Whoa dammit". What's yours?

Why yes it is a beautiful day out. I thought I'd go for a stroll around the sanctuary and vist some friends. Walks help my arthritis you know.

C'mon lady, let me drive. I can't do any worse than you're doing...just let me get my teeth on that wheel....I'll show ya how to drive...Shut up Kachina. You're not driving...

Will they ever grow up to be big like me?

A Few Updates To Share!

In for a tune-up... Three year old Kachina the mini-horse gets extensions on her back hooves every six weeks because her hooves never properly formed. She was born crippled and with dwarfism qualities. Without the hoof extensions, she could not walk. Here Ed Cigany at Equine Specialty Hospital molds her hoof extension with a bondo-type of material.

Good thing I like pink... Here Willow sports a very bright pink nose after using it to push around piles of snow on a blustery winter day.

Amity is doing simply FANTASTIC at his newly adopted home at Solid Rock Therapeutic Riding Facility! The big lovable draft horse is truly a hit, especially with his new friend and volunteer, John. Amity was one of seven horses rescued this past year from the slaughterhouse auction at the Mid Ohio Draft Horse sale held at the Mt. Hope Auction in Holmes County.
