

A Few Updates To Share!

2-4-13

Sad news. We lost Goliath the rooster on Saturday. He seemed fine at feeding time, but about an hour later, Angela found him laying in the poultry barn. We are guessing that he may either had a heart attack or may have tried to jump onto something and broke his neck. Goliath will be missed by many people at the sanctuary.

This past week Diamond's enlarged back leg swelled up to the worst it's been so far. It started seeping puss and appeared to be infected. She was immediately started on anti-biotics as well as anti-inflammatories. Diamond is a wonderful, lovable mare who needs a home as a Pasture Pal!

This is a photo of the new rest room in progress. The plumbing goes in this week. We're getting there! Hopefully by the time our season starts in May, we'll have a wonderful new rest room facility for our guests to use!

Sgt. Pepper, an indoor pot belly piggy in our rescue program, went to the vet about ten days ago and was diagnosed with a bladder infection. His vet visit, anesthesia, blood tests, and medications came to $575. Yikes. Sgt. Pepper is doing very well now and is a real sweetheart. To help with his medical expenses, tax deductible donations can be sent to: Happy Trails, Attn: Sgt. Pepper, 5623 New Milford Rd., Ravenna, Ohio 44266,